Abstract. Background. Low prevalence of substance-use disorder has been reported in adults with autism.

However, on a superficial level, adults with high-functioning autism (HFA) display a 'normal' façade when they drink alcohol, which may explain why their alcohol dependency is not better diagnosed. Case presentation.

This small booklet describes the possible relationship between having an Asperger syndrome (AS) and the impact on this of co-morbid alcohol abuse.

It is more an individual's account of personal experiences lasting over several years and the subsequent return from depths of despair to a degree of normal functioning.
